

FAROUK BACK IN EGYPT

Arab Press Sees Return Visit by King of Saudi Arabia

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 29 (Reuter)

—King Farouk is now back in Egypt from his visit to King Ibn Saud.

Before leaving Saudi Arabia, he said that he hoped that more visits would be exchanged between the two monarchs and that their Yenbo meeting would be the beginning of a new era of cooperation for the Arab states. The Arab press here is already discussing the possibility of King Ibn Saud's visiting Egypt this year.

Middle East observers consider that King Farouk's visit has done much to cement relations between Egypt and Saudi Arabia and has given impetus to a new Arab renaissance.
